CALEPA EJ SMALL GRANTS APPLICATION AND INSTRUCTIONS

A. CalEPA EJ Small Grants Program

Assembly Bill 2312 Chu (Statutes of 2002, Chapter 994) established the Environmental Justice \(EJ\) Small Grants Program at the California Environmental Protection Agency (CalEPA) in the Office of the Secretary. The CalEPA Secretary, as authorized by California Code of Regulations Title 27, Division 1, Chapter 3, Article 1, awards EJ Small Grants to assist eligible community-based, grassroots, non-profit organizations, and federally recognized tribal governments, to address environmental justice issues. Eligibility of non-profit entities and federally recognized tribal governments are defined in the Public Resources Code (PRC) Section 71116.

The CalEPA EJ Small Grants Program is designed to provide financial assistance to eligible non-profit organizations and federally recognized Tribes that are working on or plan to carry out projects to address EJ issues in areas adversely affected by environmental pollutions and hazards.

B. Statutory Purposes

Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis for projects that are based in communities with the most significant exposure to pollution. Grants will be awarded for the following statutory purposes as defined in PRC Section 71116:

- a) Distribution of information to help resolve environmental problems;
- b) Identification of improvements in communication and coordination between stakeholders and CalEPA, and its Boards, Departments, and Office (BDOs), in order to address the most significant exposure(s) to pollution;
- c) Improvement of community or tribal government understanding about environmental issues that affect neighborhoods and/or tribal governments;
- d) Promotion of community or tribal government involvement in the decision-making process that affects the environment of the community or Tribe; and
- e) Enhancement of community/tribal government understanding of environmental information systems and environmental information.

Projects that Build and Foster Equitable and Resilient Communities

CalEPA's environmental justice small grants program will continue to prioritize projects that increase participation in environmental decision-making and that lead to more equitable and just outcomes in the distribution of environmental benefits. This year, program staff will also prioritize projects that promote climate equity and community resilience, and that enhance local capacity to respond to environmental and health challenges. Community resilience is the sustained ability of a community to respond, adapt, recover, and grow from adverse situations. Climate equity includes prioritizing policies and actions that ensure increased benefits to California's most vulnerable and disproportionately burdened communities

This year's priority projects may include one or more of the following goals:

1. Develop Community Led Solutions to Climate Change Mitigation, Adaption, and Resilience Challenges

Climate change is intensifying the stresses facing communities throughout the state. Communities of color and low income communities are particularly vulnerable to both the air pollution that contributes to climate change and the impacts of a rapidly changing climate. Community-led projects can encourage residents to seek and develop local solutions to mitigate climate change while obtaining immediate economic and public health benefits. Examples of these projects may include:

- Energy efficiency and diversifying energy sources;
- Developing emergency plans to respond to wildfires, floods and sea level rise;
- Increasing green space and tree cover in urban centers and other areas where these resources are lacking;
- Improving water conservation and water access; and
- Increasing access to safe and sustainable transportation options including ride-sharing and safe biking and walking routes

Projects that specifically promote climate equity may also include those that prioritize and increase the capacity of community based organizations in vulnerable, disadvantaged, low income, and communities of color, or that provide technical assistance to the same, as well as projects that increase access to training and other resources, and enhance resident and community-based capacity to build and strengthen cross-sector partnerships, create data-driven community needs assessments, and promote participation in decision-making processes and opportunities for growth

2. Improve Access to Safe and Clean Water

Water is one of the most basic human needs. We all need safe and clean for daily consumption – for cooking, cleaning, and sanitation – yet safe, clean, affordable and accessible water is not available to all Californians. Increasing all communities' access to a reliable and healthy water supply is a goal of CalEPA, and continues to be a priority for this year's Environmental Justice Small Grants cycle.

3. Reduce Pollution, Exposure to Pesticides, and Toxic Chemicals, and Promote Resource Conservation

Reducing the negative health effects caused by exposure to pesticides and toxic chemicals, especially for vulnerable residents, is a key priority for CalEPA. There are several ways to prevent or guard against exposure to these substances. These can include efforts to directly reduce or eliminate pollution before it is generated. It may also include measures to minimize or prevent exposure where chemicals and pesticides are used.

CalEPA is also committed to supporting communities to embrace conservation as a concept and important health and environmental issue at the local level. Projects that help to disseminate information about the importance of resource conservation, that contribute to the reduction of solid and hazardous waste, conserve water and energy, reduce air pollution, and help identify and reduce the impacts caused by landfills will also be prioritized.

4. Build and Strengthen Collaborative Efforts to Enhance Local Capacity and to Uplift and Build Community Knowledge

Capacity building enables all members of a tribe or community, including the most disadvantaged and sensitive, to develop skills and competencies to meaningfully participate in decision-making and the types of activities that enhance and deliver environmental justice. Community capacity building helps communities become more resilient and improves the State's ability to address environmental impacts and challenges. Effective partnerships with schools and local government, and the development of K-12 curricula, can lead to more comprehensive and lasting change. Training youth, who will lead environmental efforts in the future, is critical to ensuring long-term success for the environment, environmental justice and equity driven initiatives. Schools may also offer convenient gathering places for parents, teachers and school administrators to learn more about environmental and public health issues affecting their communities, and to become involved in environmental decision-making, as well as other capacity building efforts. Academic-community partnerships can also enhance understanding of a community's environmental issues, which could include the community's vulnerability to the effects of climate change, and can facilitate the integration of research outcomes with community-based solutions.

5. Engage California Communities and Tribes in Multi-Benefit and Cooperative Strategies to Protect and Restore Biodiversity, and Natural and Cultural Resources

The well-being of our communities and California's economic sustainability are interconnected with our natural and cultural resources; however, the state's long-term vitality is threatened by the loss of biodiversity - the variety and variability of plant and animal life in our state. Since time immemorial, California Native American Tribes have stewarded, managed and lived interdependently with the lands that now make up the state. California is home to more species of plants and animals than any other state, accounting for one third of all species found in the nation, that are increasingly threatened by loss of habitat, spread of invasive species, decreasing water supplies. CalEPA will prioritize projects that involve deep collaboration within, among California communities, and in particular, California Tribes and tribal governments, to enhance and protect the state's invaluable natural and cultural resources.

M. Proposal Narrative – Scoring Criteria

The narrative of your proposal should include clear and succinct responses to the questions in the following table titled Scoring Criteria. The narrative must clearly and concisely describe and justify each task presented in the proposal. A well-prepared application will address each question briefly, thoroughly, and will pay specific attention to each of the points listed in the Scoring Criteria. Your narrative is limited to 15 pages including the Work Plan Narrative. The narrative does not include the Application Cover Sheet, the Work Plan Table, the Budget Table, letters of support or letters of commitment, resumes, or proof of non-profit status. The applicant is responsible for supplying sufficient detail for the review panel to fully evaluate the proposal. You must not assume the review panel knows anything about your organization or previous program experience.

Attachments to support the proposal narrative that are NOT included in the fifteen (15) page limit, include:

- Application Cover Sheet (Appendix 1)
- Resume(s) of at least three (3) Key Staff involved in the project, including the Project Lead. (Resumes limited to 2 pages double-sided maximum per individual)
- Letters of Support (if applicable)
- Letters of Commitment (if applicable)
- Tribal Government Resolution (if applicable)
- Proof of Non-profit Status (if applicable)

TIPS FOR APPLICATION WRITING:

- Clearly respond to each question (see Scoring Criteria Description, p. 11) so that your response can stand alone. This makes it easier for the review panel to score your application.
- Be clear and concise in application response. Reviewers lose confidence when application narrative is not clear to understand.
- Make sure the numbers add up in the budget. Reviewers lose confidence when the budget or estimates are not accurate or the application narrative is not clear to understand.

INSTRUCTIONS: The following format must be used to complete this exhibit. This must be legibly printed or typed double-sided on 8 ½” x 11”, with all pages numbered consecutively. The application must be a minimum 10-point font. Do not include attachments (e.g., separate pictures & maps, newsletters, brochures, factsheets, business cards, etc.) other than those requested.

Applicants will be ranked based upon the scoring criteria listed below. Proposals with the highest scores will be considered for funding first.

APPENDIX 3 - SAMPLE BUDGET TABLE

Appendix 3 is an example of how a Budget Table should be itemized. It is included to give you an idea of the level of detail expected. Make sure to provide enough detail so reviewers have an understanding of what is being budgeted (i.e., provide detail as to what materials/supplies will include). General descriptions will not be accepted/considered. Budgets over the $50,000 maximum project limit will not be considered.

Round budget line items to the nearest whole dollar. Items less than fifty cents should be rounded down and those at fifty cents or more should be rounded up. Double-check to make sure your budget adds up correctly.

Refer to section I, Ineligible Costs section of this Applications and Instructions document, to assist in the development of your budget and avoid ineligible costs.

Food, drinks, refreshments, food supplies, and beverages are not eligible costs in this grant program.

Only provide a budget table for the amount requested from the CalEPA Grant Program. If the budget is leveraged by other funding sources, provide a budget table only for CalEPA and detail in another table and or in the narrative information about the leveraged funding or resources that will support this proposal.

Time spent by a staff performing an activity directly related to the execution of the grant (not supervision or writing reports), such as speaking at events, drafting program materials, etc., is a direct cost and should be charged to the appropriate activity. Time spent for personnel costs should include the first name and last name, title, rate of pay (e.g., $15/hour) of the staff person listed. Include personnel rates as hourly rates. Hourly personnel rates should be reasonable. Hourly rates over $100/hour will need explanation or justification (i.e., breakdown of costs that may be included in the hourly rate). If including benefits in the hourly rate, include a breakout of the hourly rate and fringe benefits charged.

Total indirect costs shall not exceed 20 percent of the total grant award. Indirect costs are expenditures not capable of being assigned or not readily itemized to a particular activity, but considered necessary for the operation of the organization and the performance of the program. Overhead, the costs of administrative operations, accounting services, and in-house printing are examples of indirect costs.

Travel must follow the State of California guidelines for travel reimbursements.
